Aloha Friend,

In the Hawaii News Now debate this evening, David clearly demonstrated why he should be Hawaii's next governor, his visions for a better Hawaii, and explained how he will restore people's confidence in government. He stated, "over the last four years, people seem to have lost their trust in government. They feel decisions are made in favor of special interests, not their interests". He went further to say, "Hawaii needs a governor who will be accountable for the performance of our state government and bring people together - not someone who plays the 'blame game' whenever things go wrong".

This debate showed why David is the best candidate to lead Hawaii for the next four years as its governor. The election is only four weeks away and your continued efforts are going to make the difference on August 9th!
