Aloha Friend,

While many of us are enjoying an extra day off with friends and family, Team Ige honors the hard-working women and men who have fought to improve the lives of working families in Hawai'i. Labor Day was created to celebrate the labor movement and those dedicated to social and economic justice for American workers. Because of them, workers gained the right to access to basic employee benefits like health, paid sick leave, minimum wage, and weekends.

Even after generations of fighting for even our basic rights, the fight isn't over for workers facing multiple jobs just to get by. We extend our sincerest mahalo to those working through this holiday weekend-- especially our police, fire, emergency responders, and members of the 60+ active unions in Hawai'i who advocate for working families every day.

Many thanks to their efforts as our communities continue to live with peace and prosperity.

Happy Labor Day!

Mahalo,

Team David Ige
