Aloha Friend,

The best leaders bring people together to find creative solutions. That's the kind of leadership Governor Ige demonstrated with the historic agreement to preserve almost 630 acres of open coastline and an additional 468 acres of farmland at Turtle Bay Mauka, along O'ahu's North Shore.

Governor Ige worked in cooperation with the private sector, U.S. Army, local government, and community groups to find solutions that benefit the public. Under his leadership, all groups worked together to preserve farmlands, support our farmers to develop economically viable and environmentally sustainable farms, and produce local food. Together, they discovered a path forward that protects the pristine environment of Kawela Bay, preserves Turtle Bay Mauka from future development, supports our local agricultural industry, and provides employment opportunities for nearby residents.

The agreement even provides land for affordable housing units and a buffer zone for U.S. military trainings. Working together creates winning solutions!

At this critical time, we need leadership that brings us together. Leadership from Governor David Ige, who we can count on to make the right decisions for the right reasons. That's why we're on Team David Ige. Friend, will you join us today?
